PHEBE SUDLOW
FIRST WOMEN SUPERINTENDENT IN THE UNITED STATES WAS APPOINTED TO HEAD THE DAVENPORT SCHOOLS

1831-1922

Phebe was born in Poughkeepsie, New York July 11th, 1831 to Hanna and Richard Sudlow. They moved to Nelsonville, Ohio. In 1856 they moved to Round Grove, Iowa, where at fifteen years of age she began her teaching career. Her excellent work caught the attention of Abram S. Kissell, Scott County School Superintendent and her rise in education began. She served a number of positions, including Superintendent of Davenport Schools in 1874. She then resigned and become a professor of English at the State University of Iowa in 1874. Poor health caused her to resign and move back to Davenport, Iowa. She became part owner of a book store on 317 Brady Street. She returned to teaching one more year before retiring. Nearing her 90th birthday , The East Intermediate School on Locust Street, Davenport,Iowa changed the school name to "Phebe W. Sudlow Intermediate School" . Phebe Sudlow died in 1922. Her burial is in the Oakdale Cemetery, Davenport, Iowa
